

The email template pack please

Here's a focused Gumroad email template pack you can plug straight into Gumroad's Emails tab and lightly customise for Veil Cartography.^[1]

I'll give you:

- 1 launch announcement
- 1 "didn't buy yet" follow-up
- 1 new-buyer onboarding email
- 1 affiliate-driven promo email you can give to partners

You can paste these into Gumroad (Emails → New email), adapt, then save as drafts.

1. Launch Announcement (to everyone)

Use: Emails → New email → Audience: Everyone → Channel: Email + Profile post.

Subject line options:

- "The Gnostic path is open"
- "New: Gnostic Practices for Beginners (8-module path)"
- "From Oracle to Gnosis: your full path is ready"

Body (template):

- Opening:
 - "You've met the Oracle. You've tasted Module 1. Now the full Gnostic path is ready for you."
- Orient them:
 - "Gnostic Practices for Beginners is an 8-module journey through Gnosis, Sophia, the Demiurge, the Archons, daily ritual, and integration — designed to turn curiosity into lived practice."
- Bullet the promise:
 - "In this course, you will:
 - Move from second-hand belief to direct inner knowing.
 - Understand the Gnostic map: pleroma, Sophia, Demiurge, Archons, liberation.

- Build simple, repeatable daily practices so Gnosis is something you do, not just read about.”
- Modules snapshot (very short list):
 - “You’ll walk through:
 - Module 1: What Is Gnosis? (your free taster)
 - Module 2: The Gnostic Worldview
 - Module 3: Sacred Texts Unlocked
 - Module 4: Sophia, The Divine Feminine
 - Module 5: The Demiurge and the Material World
 - Module 6: The Archons and Liberation
 - Module 7: Rituals and Daily Practice
 - Module 8: Integration and The Path Forward.” ^[1]
- Transition to CTA:
 - “If the Oracle has already started speaking to you, this is the map that sits beneath it.”
- CTA button copy (for Gumroad button):
 - “Begin the 8-Module Path”
- Scarcity / urgency (use if you want):
 - “For the first wave of seekers, the full bundle is available at a founding price of £29.99. The price will increase once the first group completes the course.” ^[1]
- Soft close:
 - “If you’re not ready yet, stay close. I’ll keep sending teachings, reflections, and glimpses from inside the course so you can feel whether this path is yours.”

You can re-use this with small edits whenever you launch a new bundle.

2. “Didn’t Buy Yet” Follow-Up (to non-purchasers)

Use: Audience → Filter by “has NOT purchased” the full bundle.

Subject line options:

- “If Module 1 stirred something…”
- “Before you forget Gnosis”
- “You and I both know this isn’t random”

Body:

- Gentle recall:
 - “You downloaded Module 1: What Is Gnosis? for a reason. Something in the word ‘Gnosis’ pulled at you, even if quietly.”

- Acknowledge hesitation:
 - “If you haven’t stepped into the full 8-module path yet, I’m guessing it’s not because you don’t care. It’s usually:
 - ‘I’m not ready.’
 - ‘What if I don’t finish it?’
 - Or just, ‘Life got loud again.’”
- Reframe:
 - “Gnosis isn’t a performance. It’s a practice. You don’t have to ‘do it perfectly’ for it to work on you.”
- Restate value in simple terms:
 - “Inside the full path you’ll get:
 - Clear, grounded explanations of the core Gnostic ideas.
 - Practical rituals and reflections you can actually fit into a real life.
 - A way to talk to your own inner world that isn’t fluffy, and isn’t dogmatic.” ^[1]
- Light nudge CTA:
 - “If Module 1 opened a door, this is your invitation to walk through it.”
- Button copy:
 - “Continue the Gnostic Path”
- Permission to say no:
 - “And if now truly isn’t the time, honour that too. Gnosis doesn’t vanish; it waits. You’ll know when it stops being a ‘nice idea’ and becomes a non-negotiable.”

3. New-Buyer Onboarding Email (to customers of bundle)

Use: Audience → Filter → “has purchased” the full bundle.

Subject line options:

- “Welcome to the Gnostic path”
- “You’ve crossed the threshold”
- “How to move through the 8 modules”

Body:

- Warm welcome:
 - “Welcome inside. You’ve just said yes to an 8-module journey that most people never even realise is available to them.”
- What to do first:
 - “Here’s how to start so you don’t get overwhelmed:

- Step 1: Revisit Module 1, even if you already watched or read it. Let it land now as ‘Lesson 1’ in a longer path, not just a standalone taster.
 - Step 2: Block 30–45 minutes in your week for ‘Gnosis time’ — same day, same time if possible.
 - Step 3: Move one module at a time. Don’t binge. Let each one ‘work on you’ for a few days.”
- Explain the feel:
 - “This isn’t a binge-watch Netflix course. It’s more like being handed a set of keys. Each module unlocks a slightly different door.”
- Encourage interaction:
 - “As you move through, notice:
 - Phrases that won’t leave you alone.
 - Dreams, synchronicities, emotional spikes.
 - Any resistance or boredom (they’re part of the work, not a failure).”
- Invite replies / comments:
 - “You’re welcome to hit reply and tell me where you are in the journey and what’s coming up. I read everything, even if I can’t always write long replies.”
- CTA button (back to Gumroad library, optional):
 - “Access Your Modules” (link to your Gumroad library or the bundle product page)

This is the email that makes them feel held, not just “here’s your receipt.”

4. Affiliate-Friendly Promo Email (template affiliates can send)

Use: Give this as a swipe file to affiliates; adjust “I” vs “Tracie/Veil Cartography” as needed.

Subject line options:

- “If you’ve ever felt ‘there’s more’ behind the story”
- “Modern life, ancient Gnosis”
- “For seekers who don’t fit in church or pure chaos”

Body (affiliate sender as “I”):

- Relatable opening:
 - “If you’re anything like me, you’ve had moments where the official story of reality felt... thin. Like there was a missing layer no one had words for.”
- Introduce you / Veil Cartography:
 - “My friend Tracie runs Veil Cartography — a project dedicated to mapping that missing layer using Gnostic philosophy, ancient texts, and modern practice.”
- Introduce the course:

- “She’s created an 8-module course called Gnostic Practices for Beginners. It’s for thoughtful, spiritually curious people who:
 - Don’t fit into neat religious boxes.
 - Don’t want vague ‘love and light’ platitudes either.
 - Want a structured path into Gnosis they can actually live.”^[1]
- Simple breakdown:
 - “Across 8 modules you’ll explore:
 - What Gnosis actually is (beyond the buzzword).
 - Sophia, the Demiurge, and the Archons as living patterns, not just myth.
 - How to bring all of this into daily ritual, reflection, and integration.”
- Personal endorsement:
 - “I’ve gone through the material myself and it’s grounded, honest, and surprisingly practical — no fluffy promises, no doomsday fear-mongering.”
- CTA with affiliate link placeholder:
 - “If this has been quietly tugging at you for a while, here’s the link to explore it:
 - [Affiliate link goes here]”
- Gentle close:
 - “If it’s not your path, that’s fine. But if you read this far and feel that small inner ‘yes’, at least go and read the course page. You’ll know if it’s yours.”

You can:

- Keep this as a Gumroad update aimed at “Affiliates” segment.
- Or store it in Notion and send to affiliates when you approve them.

5. How to Use These in Gumroad

Inside Gumroad → Emails tab:

- Launch announcement:
 - Audience: Everyone
 - Filters: None
 - Channel: Email + Profile post
- Didn’t-buy follow-up:
 - Audience: Everyone
 - Filter: “has not purchased” → select the 8-module bundle
 - Schedule: 3–5 days after the launch email
- New-buyer onboarding:
 - Audience: Customers

- Filter: “has purchased” → the 8-module bundle
- Schedule: Send immediately, or 1 hour after purchase as an automation when Gumroad supports it.
- Affiliate promo:
 - Send to Affiliates segment as a resource, or export it and share via Notion/Google Doc when someone becomes an affiliate.^[1]

Would you like me to now:

- Rewrite these in your exact “Oracle / Veil Cartography” voice (more mystical, more you), or
- Help you map them into a simple 7-day launch schedule (Day 1, Day 3, Day 5, etc.) so you know exactly when to send each one?
