Hola Tracie

My name is Erik Taylor and I'm the founder of Pisatahua and Sustainable Bolivia. For our communication, I would prefer to use the following email: info@pisatahua.org

Thank you for taking the time and energy to put this report together. I looked through it and there are many tangible suggestions that will provide much benefit to our work! Its extremely helpful.

We are very much in agreement that our work in the Reserve should be essential to our marketing efforts. I think Pisatahua needs a "rebrand" where an emphasis is placed on our education outreach program and conservation projects - this is what really separates our retreat center from others.

I think it may be difficult for you to write certain content pages without us having a conversation first. I might want some involvement in this.

I feel confident in you taking the lead on this now:

- Write the first 2 SEO blog articles targeting 'Ayahuasca Safety Bolivia' and 'Ayahuasca Preparation Dieta'

I would love to have a conversation. I won't go into detail now but marketing will be our main focus this year. We have spent lots of time/energy/money on the physical infrastructure but this year our focus will be on the intellectual infrastructure.

My whatsapp number is +591 727 600 74. Perhaps we can schedule a conversation for early next week. I'm available Monday afternoon after 13:30 (Bolivian Time). Tuesday, I could speak earlier - from 11:00am (Bolivian time).

Thank you again for your support.
Best from Bolivia,
Erik

Subject: Marketing Plan + Clear Next Steps — Ready to Start Now

Hi Leah,

I hope you're well! I've attached the full Pisatahua Comprehensive Marketing Plan — it covers everything from the website and social media through to SEO, the volunteer programme, and even an Amazon product opportunity. It's written in plain language so anyone can pick it up and use it.

I wanted to keep things simple, so here's exactly what I can start on right now — and what I'd need from your side to get moving.

WHAT I CAN DO RIGHT NOW (no access needed):

- Draft the new website copy — rewriting the 'Apply Now' button area and the Safety & Support page content, ready to hand to whoever manages the site
- Write the first 2 SEO blog articles targeting 'Ayahuasca Safety Bolivia' and 'Ayahuasca Preparation Dieta'
- Create a 30-day social media content calendar with ready-to-post captions and content ideas
- Design post templates in Canva (free tool) — consistent, on-brand graphics for Instagram and Facebook
- Draft the Volunteer Programme page copy for the website
- Write the 'Reciprocity & Mission' page content
- Set up a Metricool account and build the first month's posting schedule once content is confirmed

WHAT I NEED FROM YOU / THE TEAM:

- Confirmation from Erik that he's happy for me to proceed with this plan
- Access or a contact for whoever manages the Pisatahua website (so copy changes can actually go live)
- A small bank of existing photos or videos I can use for social content — even phone quality is fine to start
- The Metricool login details if an account already exists, or confirmation to create a new one
- One or two short written testimonials or quotes from past guests I can use in content (or permission to pull from existing public reviews)
- Approximate retreat dates for the next 3–6 months so I can plan content around them

I'm not expecting everything at once — even just Erik's go-ahead and a few photos would let me start building content straight away. Everything else can follow.

I genuinely believe this plan can make a real difference to how many people find Pisatahua, and I'm excited to contribute something useful before I arrive.

Please do pass the document on to whoever else it might be helpful for. And as always, take what's useful and leave what isn't!

Looking forward to hearing from you. I'm eager to get started.

Warm regards,
Tracie

Hi Leah,

It's wonderful to hear from you! I apologise for my delayed response; I've been focused on finding the best solution for my dog-sitting situation. Are you planning to leave soon?

I want to assure you there is no confusion regarding my trip to Bolivia - it is definitely happening. As soon as I can sort out some logistics, I will be on my way. Life has a way of adding unexpected complications, but I believe that when you set your mind to something, nothing can stop you. Anything meant for you cannot pass you by. Erik's willingness to let me assist virtually is a significant motivator for me, helping me stay focused and on track. I tend to multitask mentally, and without a clear goal, I often get lost in the details.

With that in mind, how can I keep in contact with you, Erik, and or anyone else involved in the online marketing plan going forward? I need a clear and straightforward understanding of the main goals and priorities from the top. I want to ensure my efforts are directed appropriately from the start. If we can get this going right away, I can implement small changes that will have an immediate impact. Having someone available to discuss ideas and make decisions will be invaluable and essential for success.

Looking forward to your guidance and collaboration.

Warm regards,
Tracie

Just checking in with you about your plans. Have you decided on your travel dates yet? March is fast approaching so we should settle on a time frame soon.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Hi Tracie,

I've forwarded your message to Erik since I do not work for Pisatahua. He is the point person for Pisatahua. I'll let you know his response.

Hi Leah

Hope you're doing well!

I've put together a little social media and content review for Piscataqua that I thought might be helpful.

I'm actually offering this completely voluntarily while I'm preparing to travel to Bolivia to volunteer with Sustainable Bolivia. Since I know you work together with them, I thought it would be lovely to contribute something useful to Pisatahua before I make the journey.

I've attached a mini review document that covers:

- What I noticed about your current social media presence
- Some strengths I really admire (that 98% recommendation rate on Facebook is incredible!)
- A few gentle opportunities I spotted
- Practical ideas for content that you could use if they feel helpful

The whole approach is designed so you keep complete control - I don't need access to any of your accounts, and you can pick and choose what (if anything) feels useful from the suggestions.

No pressure at all to use any of it! I just enjoyed diving into your mission and thought the insights might be worth sharing. Your work with the Aquicuana Reserve and the genuine reciprocity approach really comes through in everything you do.

If any of this resonates and you'd like to chat more about it, I'd be happy to. Otherwise, please just take what's useful and ignore the rest!

I thought seeing as you'll be gone (potentially) by the time I arrive, this would be better sooner rather than later, as we've already spoken and you can provide any necessary info I might need, after being there so long.

I know we talked about the owner having some ideas and implementations in mind so with that in mind, I've kept it to just using the data already available online. If you could run it by him and let me know.

I'm not promising to manage every suggestion, but it would be no trouble, it will keep me occupied and connected in the meantime, hopefully I can continue after I arrive.

I actually created a much more comprehensive plan, then decided to rein it in and start with this idea.

I look forward to hearing back from you and getting into it asap.

Warm regards, Tracie
